AGED COUPLE ON TASK OF FULFILLING DREAMS OF DEPARTED DAUGHTER

Their daughter died in a road accident a decade ago She was like a flower ready to blossom but fate had cut short her life. A decade has passed since she died in a road accident, but she stays in the memories of all those who knew her.

A native of Kakinada, Kuchibhotla Vasanthi had big dreams, which are now being fulfilled by her aged parents.

Vasanthi had completed Masters in Business Administration at the Indian Institute of Rural Management, Anand, in 1997 and soon joined a Berhampore-based NGO Grama Vikas to gain practical experience.

She had also taken up field work with National Tree Growers' Cooperative Federation.

She was in the midst of her project work when tragedy struck.

Series of lectures

Nevertheless, Vasanthi's parents Kameswara Rao and Jyotirmayi took up themselves the onerous task of spreading her ideals and to do that, they set up Kuchibhotla Vasanthi Foundation.

The aged couple, both pensioners, had since been organising foundation lectures, elocution and debating competitions among other activities in the fond memory of their daughter by expending their own resources.

The lectures covering the topic 'Development Echoes and Awakening Voices' were delivered by J. Manohara Rao of the Department of Economics of the University of Hyderabad, G. Muralidhar, chief mentor of Akshara Network for Development Support Services, Hyderabad, and Kuchibhotla Prasad, retired chief general manager of the Reserve Bank of India.

Kuchibhotla Vasanthi Foundation Chairman Kameswara Rao organised lectures since 1998 and all of them were brought out in the form of books. Some of his books are "Main Currents in Indian History", Translated "EARLY INDIA OF ROMILA THAPAR", "Indian History and Culture". He is also the Editor of Comprehensive History and culture of Andhra Pradesh, Toorpu Godavari Zilla-Charitra- Samskruthi

"They are spending at least Rs. 50,000 every year from their own pocket. For them there is no better satisfying thing than to sustain and share the values cherished by Vasanthi,"

But, today I am able to speak without any inhibitions and conduct myself in a confident manner," says P. Lahari, a student of B.Com final year in Pithapuram Rajah's Degree College here. She is one among the 55 students from B.Com and B.Sc in the college who have undergone an 80-hour-long special training in communication skills and accountancy packages that are required for employment in the banking and insurance sectors.
